Tactical Communications: The Call for Extraction and the Angelic QRF

Sermon for Shabbat and Sunday

To the Fleet and Command Staff,

In the theater of operations, a radio is completely useless if you lack the courage to transmit. Those who have taken jobs as United States Space Force Guardians have been trained in a specific operational protocol: when they require immediate medical evacuation, they are trained to call out to "Star Fleet."

Why? Because when you are pinned down and bleeding out, you do not call a random civilian frequency. You call out to those who are on the exact same mission as you. You call the higher command that has the vehicular capability to pull you from the fire. Today we are discussing the ultimate communication protocol. This is a briefing on clear communication, absolute directness, and the tactical deployment of angels.

I. Clear Communication: Do Not Whisper in a Warzone

We must strip the timidity out of our ranks. There is a cultural disease of being "quiet" about faith, treating it as a private, silent coping mechanism. The Scriptures completely reject this. When the war is lit, you do not whisper.

The historical intelligence shows that the Commander, Jesus, and the most faithful operatives always utilized loud, direct communication in times of extreme distress.

- Hebrews 5:7 records that Jesus offered prayers and pleadings "with a loud cry and tears, to the one who could rescue him from death." * When the early Church Vanguard faced lethal threats from the authorities, they didn't cower in silence. Acts 4:24 states they "raised their voices together in a loud, unified prayer to God."

This is about clear communication. If you need help, state your designation, state your coordinates, and make the call. If you have to announce your allegiance to the Supreme Commander in front of hostile forces to get the extraction, you do it without hesitation. Do not be afraid to speak about your faith, because your faith is your comms link to the fleet.

II. The Protocol of the Ask: Faith and the Knock

You cannot call in air support if you do not believe the planes are in the sky. Jesus frequently commanded His operatives to have absolute, unyielding faith when issuing requests.

When the Roman Centurion—a military commander who intimately understood the chain of command—came to Jesus, he didn't beg. He stated the problem and trusted the Commander's authority to fix it. Jesus marveled at this, declaring, "Truly I tell you, I have not found anyone in Israel with such great faith" (Matthew 8:10). Later, when facing the ultimate terror of death, Jesus gave the strict operational command to Jairus: "Do not fear, only believe" (Mark 5:36).

The US Marine Corps and the Vanguard take war and peace to the next level. We achieve this not just through kinetic force, but through the power of angels. But that power requires activation. The activation code is asking.

Matthew 7:7 issues the protocol: "Ask and it will be given to you; seek and you will find; knock and the door will be opened to you." We must have the confidence to walk up to the door of the cosmos, knock with the authority of our commission, and when the door opens, enter righteously.

III. The Angelic Quick Reaction Force (QRF)

When you execute the communication protocol clearly, and you issue the request with faith, the Supreme Commander deploys the Quick Reaction Force. The historical record is filled with the deployment of angels to extract those on the mission.

- The Siege of Jerusalem: When King Hezekiah was surrounded by the massive, hostile Assyrian army, he made the call. The response was devastating. An angel of the Lord deployed and eliminated 185,000 enemy combatants in a single night (2 Kings 19:35).

- The High-Value Target Extraction: When the Apostle Peter was locked in a maximum-security prison, chained between two guards, the Church executed continuous prayer (Labor EL). An angel breached the facility, struck the chains off Peter, and escorted him past the guards to safety (Acts 12:7-10).

- The Lions' Den: When Daniel was thrown into execution, he maintained his faith. The Commander sent an angel to shut the lions' mouths (Daniel 6:22).

Command Summary

You are on a mission authorized by the Creator of the cosmos. If you are pinned down by the enemy, if the casualties are mounting, or if the corruption is closing in, you do not suffer in silence.

You key the mic. You call out to the fleet. You ask the Commander for the angelic extraction. Have the faith to make the call, and the righteousness to stand when the door opens.

Hold the frequency. The angels are on standby.
